Shes not much of a poet but shes got this way with words
That keeps dragging me back to my love for romance
Despite the way it hurts Just when I think that Im enough There always seems to be someone better than me Shes bittersweet So tell me where were going And why Im lonely Tell me the words that you told me on the drive home I want to know, where do we go When the lights not changing Like the boy whos waiting I need to feel with my old heart again So I can tell if were better off friends I didnt mean it like that I never could understand The loss of the love I was chasing away But you like it like that Love and you back to back Suddenly Im in need Of a motive in me But they say the boy is growing weaker each day And it shows but I know That without you Im just blossoming Into the boy who loved to sing But you, you got me in a choke You cut me off But youve got nothing to show for I took the fall But it wasnt enough Youve got this bittersweet bitter-sweetness Cut me off, tell me Im the only one With the love that youve needed to be Youve got this bittersweet bitter-sweetness
