Leave it to you to say the things that Im Afraid to hear to think or say Dont come back expecting much of me I understand we took this way too hard I had nothing to hold on to What do we do to make this easy What did we do to make this harder You had your chance to make me what I used to be We took the long way home and we became strangers You know I can taste on your perfect lips The covered mistakes of his What have I lost now?

Something beautiful that I can just recollect Repeat the lines that mean the most Address the words to anyone Im one for drama, drama grows Its them I dont trust
