She is my ambience
And like a victim of the phoenix
Im born again through love Because I was nothing without her With our thoughts align We could be anything we want
When you fall Ill be holding onto you Dont lose hope dont lose your patience Keep me close and Ill be content I could tell by the way things were going By that look in her eyes I saw it coming from a mile away So I led myself on with a lovers disguise And when she calls I fall for her again I was told I was done Just to keep moving on But you gave me the strength
Just enough to get to you
