Restrospection, the deep felt times,

Like heavy teardrops evaporate.

The strenght, held in meaningless words,

I must reveal to feel levitation in this body.

Understanding the essence of loss

Ends this dreadful path of mine.

So inert I leave my conscience,

Mountain of sighs and throes gathered by years of sorrow.

I am moonstricken, gone with streams of fading light.

Mourning, I relinquish my life.

Ma disparition a commence. Il pleur...
