Bend down, I command you
turn your face away from me your face means nothing to me
bend down

A human on all fours
I take him on a walk ambling along the corridor
I am disappointed

Now he comes backwards towards me
Honey stays stuck on the garter
I am disappointed, totally disappointed

Bend down... your face doesn't interest me

The human has bent down and moved into a good light I show him what you can do and I start to cry

The human stammers a prayer out of fear because it goes worse for me he tried to bend down even more tears run up the back

Bend down...

Bend down, I command you
bend down once more

Bend down...
