Cunningly Concealed by Randi Laubek from the album:

Ducks and Drakes

Music: Randi L./Ben Barson

Words: Randi L

If you wont remember how I found you

All humiliated hanging on a string

If you wont reveal the things you went through

I wont ask you anything

Everything comes back to you in the end

Somethings even tales of time do not mend

But you want me in don't push me away

Cunningly concealed

Nothing is revealed

Never let you secrets see the light

Cunningly concealed

Nothing is revealed

Until you find that there's nothing to hide

Cause the way you're thinking

Is the way you're walking through?

Truth is sometimes hard to follow

Are you with me for a while to ease your pain

Truth is: these are shades of sorrow

Cause the hierophant sang the song of love again

Everything comes back to you in the end...etc.

Cunningly concealed...etc.

Slow down your horses

(so don't leave me hanging)

Youre running triggers

(without any landing place)

I need your guidance though the maze

(you know Im depending on you)

Our puzzling nightmares

(I wont leave you loosing)

Will always trick us

(when life is confusing)

But you're with me and I wont run away

Cunningly concealed...etc.
