Tapestry Of Fire by Randi Laubek from the album Ducks and Drakes

Music & words: Randi Laubek

I wish I had told him all the things he meant

Never wait with love until tomorrow

Never trust in what you have today

Suddenly you see

That all beginnings have an end

Will you be anything?

Will you hear when I sing?

Will you be my tapestry of fire?

Can you give a reason why?

Everything is going to die?

Will you be my tapestry of love?

I need a wall of love

I wish I had asked him

So many things I'd like to know

Things that only he can teach me thoroughly

Oh, things that only he can show

Now, suddenly I stand and see

How one I love must go

Will you be anything?.etc.

I need a wall of love

I need you as my guide as a friend

As a guide will you lead me through?

Someone who walks through my halls

With the memory of you

Who helps me let go of you

Will you be anything?..etc.

I need a wall of love

I wish I had told you

Every little thing you are

Never wait with love until tomorrow

You gotta say the things you need to say today

Or suddenly you wake up

And see your treasure fly away

Suddenly you see

That all beginning have an end
