I saw you yesterday
On the street where we once lived
You didn't see me as you passed me by
I noticed how you've changed
And the only reason is
The one you're with just doesn't treat you right

You need someone who really loves you
You need someone who cares about you
You need someone who really wants you
Won't you come on back to me
Come back to me

You've been with him so long
That you don't realize
How he takes you for granted all the time
And when he breaks you down
Do you ever think of me
I never made you cry when you were mine

You need someone who really loves you
You need someone who cares about you
You need someone who really wants you
Won't you come on back to me
Come back to me
