

Randy Travis

"Old 8x10"

Visit "Old 8x10" on MotoLyrics.com well know it ain't much but it's all that i have since she's gone one black and white mem'ry of the only love i've ever known one moment in time when we were together a page from the past to haunt me forever

a constant reminder that hearts heal much slower than bones
chorus:
now my whole world's in one 8x10 with 4 metal walls holding it in through one plate glass window 'neath a blanket of dust stands an 8x10 picture of us i wish i'd have told her what i felt inside back when her sweet love was growing like wine i wish she'd come back and love me again the way that she loved me in that old 8x10 now the silence i deaf'ning as the date turns to dark her presence gets stronger with each beat of my heart i pretnd that she's here and we've made a new start and for a moment
she's back in my arms
(chorus)
there's an 8x10 picture of us

Visit Randy Travis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.