Well I knew something wasn't right the other night

When she came to bed angry

We used to talk before but lately we've been fighting

About the stupidest things

And I don't know if we can come to some sort of conclusion here

There's got to be an easy way to say goodbye without the pain and tears

That you cry

Chorus

I never wanted to give you away

Well I still love you but I don't need you

I never wanted to give you away

Well I still love you but I don't need you

Every morning 6 AM she kicks her blankets off the bed

Another cup of coffee, yes

She reads a funny paper book with tea

She doesn't feel like laughing

I never meant to cause you pain

It's something that I can't explain

I'd only wish you'd stop and see

That all I have is you and me

I hope you know that I tried

Chorus

And I knew something wasn't right the other night

When she came to bed angry

Used to talk before but lately we've been fighting

About the stupidest things

And I don't know if we can come to some sort of
conclusion here

There's got to be an easy way to say goodbye without
the pain and tears

That you cry

Chorus
