It began with a mistake, I didn't know what was at stake
I realize I was to blame, I just want things to be the same
I'll be the first to apologize and I know these things take time
I think of you and I see red even though you were alright in bed

It's not that we don't get along, it's just that you were always wrong
At least you could pretend that I was right in the end
Why won't you ever let this die, you can see how hard
I've tried
Don't hold this over my head, let's just say enough is been said

Enough is enough
I know I was to blame, I just wanted to be the same
Just shut up and make it right
Enough is enough
I know I was to blame, I just wanted to be the same
Just shut up and make it right

It's been a long long time and I've realized my crime
I've tried hard to make amends to avoid the bitter end I wanna leave it up to you but you never seem to come through
Why don't you finish what you start before this whole thing falls apart

You know I'm beginning to think that you drove me to drink
Not that I'm placing blame but you're giving me a bad name
Why won't you ever let this die, you can see how hard
I've tried
I guess it's time to say fuck off I'm gone after today

Enough is enough
I know I was to blame, I just wanted to be the same
Just shut up and make it right
Enough is enough

I know I was to blame, I just wanted to be the same
Just shut up and make it right

I never thought this would be such a nightmare
Get over your bad self, I don't, I don't really care
I don't, I don't really care

Enough is enough
I know I was to blame, I just wanted to be the same
Just shut up and make it right
Just shut up and make it right
Just shut up and make it right
