I saw you
I saw who you really were
You were something
Truly to me
Not that you would ever know
For anything

How I watched you (how I watched you)
And everything that you did (and everything)
In spite of them
Didn't you know (didn't you know)
That you had everything to lose (had everything)
Why didn't you care?

What drove you to?
Why would you?
With everything to lose
What drove you to?
How could you?
With everything to lose

You were the only
One who made sense to me
The irony
And I hate them
For everything they didn't know
But always wrote

Your vision made it (your vision made it)
Worthwhile and I knew (worthwhile and I knew)
That I lost that too
And now, I don't know (now, I didn't know)
What I should say, only that (I should say)
I know I miss you
What drove you to?
Why would you?
With everything to lose
What drove you to?
How could you?
With everything to lose
With everything to lose

How couldn't you know
Where it would go?
I don't believe that you didn't care
How could you say
That it was OK
When you lied about it each day?
What are you gonna tell them
When they are old enough to understand
Why they found you face down

What drove you to?
Why would you?
With everything to lose
What drove you to?
How could you?
With everything to lose

With everything to lose
With everything to lose
With everything, with everything
With everything to lose
