Hear me out, day follows day
Light turns to clay in my hands
How to explain so pristine the pain
Kindness made the cut so clean

I still care for you
I still care for you
I still care for you

Hear me out, you wanted me to be
Less your lover than a mirror
Can't you see what you mean to me?
Even promises may bleed

I still care for you
I still care for you
I still care for you

The hours grow heavy and hollow
Cruel as a grave
Open me and you'll find
Only bones burned to glass

I still care for you
I still care for you
I still care for you
