Gone are the days, when I would go traveling
Over the sea, as a sailor
Seeking the breeze, my dreams went unraveling,
Far from the memories on the shore

My song of the sea, you bring me a melody
Of faces and voices that call me
I find myself yearning for the sea, the sea
Chasing the morning and wandering free

Come and sail on the water and follow a star
Tomorrow is calling and I must be gone
For we must be sailing to know where we are
We are ships on the sea and must keep moving on

I find myself yearning for places I used to be
Sailing the ocean and missing the land

There's no home for the sailor
On the sea or the sand...
