Who will you push when there's no one around to care? so save yourself by forcing your peace of mind as what's mine by right. to hell with all of us. i am not so strong to be untouched by any of this. i am not so stong to be untouched by your bitterness. how could i begin to forgive when you never gave me a chance to forget? empty bottles, fists buried into walls, while watching us fall from your arms. still shaking, i'm asking what's the price for your redemption? i hope i', never like you. how dare you believe you were the only one (to feel this way)? how could i begin to forgive when you never gave me a chance to forget?
