I don't want to say a word today
I'm afraid of what i just might say
I tell the optimist im pessimistic
Of what's going on here
Is it true the colors i have seen
Are they real the places i have been
Well you may say that i doubt
Well i guess i'm human, no doubt

So take me back to the place
Where i first saw the light
Give me backthe sweet touch
That i found in You that day

I don't want to hear Your word today
Its my life, and i'll live it my way
But my weaknesses leave me in pieces
So it seems every time that i try
I have struggled hard to justify
The only truth that i hound in my life
I still need a way too much
To not be searching for Your touch
