FATHER OF LIES by REALM

Trusted to have equal'd

The most high

Never will be held

He can change size

Doubtful if God can

Create anything

God can't kill the rebels

In his ring

High up in heaven with songs to hymn his throne

And practiced distances to cringe, not fight- now you know

You think your book is full of truth and never lies

The truth is that your book brings no good-just cries

And the serpent's cause is just because he shook the throne

War on the plains of heaven made this knowledge known

God created hell and that is why we have our torture

And if you ignore the book you shall feel the fiery scorcher

If you love the dark

If it makes you alive

Prince of Darkness

The father of lies

The father of lies

The father of lies

The father of lies

Infinite malice cannot be outwitted-that's no lie

And remember the adversary wants to see you die

Encased in your new pine home you will finally rest

And maybe you'll understand the rites of an atheist

And if you find John 8:44 pertains to you a lot

Then wipe away ancient symbols from your burial plot

The moon rising over your stone like the sun on the horizon

And once you're under you will never again start risin'
