Tell me that again because I'm hoping I heard you wrong the first time.
How could you really think that we are gaining some kind of success and priority?
Such a fool to keep holding on and holding back.
Can't wait forever it's all crashing? If they only knew that there is something wrong.
We should've been farther than this by now.
The only news we ever hear from them is bad.
We were stronger before this all.
We don't need, we don't need this? So tell me that again what we are waiting for
And tell me why we are waiting for it.
Now you really think that this delay is somehow our fault? If they only knew that there is something wrong.
We should've been farther than this by now.
The only news we ever hear from them is bad.
We were stronger before this all.
We don't need, we don't need this.
We don't need this anymore? Think back to at the start a single line is bent.
Break the order and the old routines are lost.
So many intentions melted in the light.
Worked through this and put everything else behind.
And I'm caught, I'm caught? It's a disappointment and for now.
And it's a disappointment and for now.
Everyday up and down, back and forth, pushing pulling.
You know it now that you're stalling.
Move over and stop stopping us.
We're gonna breathe and grow.
Everyday you want us back in present tense.
Memories which leave me in disgust.
Such a disappointment that for now you're stalling.
And everyone knows you're stalling.
You're stalling and everyone knows you're stalling,
And everyone knows you're stalling.
Stop stopping us.
