He can give you a reason to live if he wants to He can make you forget other loves that you have known
He has two lips and two arms that thrill you, as very few do
And if you want him to give them to you just ask and he will

But don't you believe him, I did
And soon he'll be leaving me
No, don't believe him if you do
Then soon he'll be leaving you too

He can tell you a lie you believe if he has to And you'll trust him till time and the tide both stand still He can cry on your shoulder and swear to the things that he won't do But be careful for when you're not looking he will

But don't you believe him, I did
And soon he'll be leaving me
No don't believe him if you do
Then soon he'll be leaving you too
