(Törnqvist/Svenre)

See that ugly walking

See him talking to him self Saying maybe this night is different

Maybe this bar, this girl will help

But she moves over

and says in a gentle voice

Honey, maybe I was born yesterday

but I stayed up all night you see

so I know what is going down

And a mean lover will never be my first choice

'cause if you've seen a baboon, you've seen them all

and it takes more than that to make me fall

so come back another time

Take the time to see me

C'mon and see my gentle eyes

Someday, someone will free me

But until then at least some sweet lies

But she moves over

and says in a gentle voice

Honey, maybe I was born yesterday

but I stayed up all night you see

And a poor lover will never be my first choice

and it takes more than that to make me fall

In another place things would look so different

In a better world, they would all see the true me
