Peer through the cracked stained glass closely observe open up your mouth follow it down you'll never learn go witch-hunt your friends go she'd skin blue shift the blame all i want we just can't get and i believe there's nothing missing say goodbye to your insides your silence speaks loud is this not how you wanted things is this the sound inside your doubt dragged down by all that you said you would be now dragged down in time dragged down tonight peer straight through the cracked stained glass closely observe open up your mouth follow it down you'll never learn go witch-hunt your friends go she'd skin blue shift the blame all i want we just can't get and i believe there's nothing missing goodbye inside you're hollowed out and broken two by four five in the morning let's hear what you have to say you're pushing for a reaction but you hold no weight and jealous hands feed jealous ways
