Thanks for waiting patiently i'm sure you'll see daisies in your dreams it's hard not to feel betrayed but don't give in and say so long to those golden years this is a free test to see to see your true colors as they're turning out to be gray you say this is behind you but we know better from the tone you've kept i sense the change in your emotions from cold to colder don't behave this way don't be too proud to pray for me i can't explain but it's not worth it in the end when they're gone and this song no longer echoes through the hallways of this age old clinic thanks for waiting patiently i'm sure you'll see daisies in your dreams it's hard not to feel betrayed but don't give in and say so long to those golden years this is a free test to see to see your true colors
