

Red Animal War "Straight Lines For Construction Workers"

Visit "Straight Lines For Construction Workers" on MotoLyrics.com

Franklin was a construction worker down on the east side of town the folks there say he let his loved ones down but what did they know 'cause the sky was so close his family so poor nobody says nothing when a hard-hat hits the ground except when he's got bills to pay and owes money all over town so they found the note that read so long farewell cruel world but folks die everyday he's giving it up it said but he's been saving it up for years the pressure is building sometimes it's too great we all know frankie's gotta get away oh god please don't tell my son i went this way she put her heart in a suitcase along with everything else she moved in with her mother couldn't stand being by herself all the while thinking her future looks black and the past all seems gray

Visit Red Animal War page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.