your eyes, they talk to mine.
our cries, they scream, so silently.
let's take this train tonight,
hold hands and think of what we could be.
our dreams, they cast us off,
and let us become who we want to be.
til then, we'll set our lives aside.
(aside, yeah yeah)

let's make believe everything will be alright.
let's make believe.

let lips translate our emotions into thoughts (as the movie plays)
let hands communicate with others to fill this theatre day.
her golden touch enlightens me,
it brings me back to everything i've dreamt of you're a dream to me.

and i know you're just faking it
cause you're scared of what may be.
(i know you're scared, you know it's true)
i can read your mind
and you can't say goodbye
cause you feel the same way about me.

so let this film roll on, and take my hand, take my hand.
so here we are again, (let's make this personal)
a boy, a girl, a romance story just like every other one.
Where boy tells girl how he feels
she feels the same way,
just won't say.
lipstick friday,
she's out all night
while he sits at home and thinks.

cause you're scared of what may be.
(i know you're scared, you know it's true)
i can read your mind

and you can't say goodbye
cause you feel the same way about me.

so let this film roll on, and take my hand (take my hand)

so watch the screen,
it plays all our dreams.
we're falling out
from you to me.
(take my hand)

so watch the screen,
(take my hand)
it plays all our dreams.
we're falling out
from you to me.
