Cast him down to the dungeons
Similarities will overwhelm him there
Between reality and despair
And the cage within his eyes

Descend my friend
Cascade with unfeathered wings
The passage you took
Is frozen in time

Descend my friend
Cascade with unfeathered wings
The passage you took
Is red in the sky

Try and save his mourning face
Lift his chin and save his grace
A task was given against his will
This is why his feet stand still

Speak his tale of adventure
Whisper his tale of despair
For this lost cause once had a chance
A chance which was built on trust

Shades of white lifting him now
Waiting for death, free his captured soul
Shades of white, lifting him now
It's time to leave it's time to die
When he closes his eyes
Waiting for death

Falling down
A silloette of angels
Lifting him now
A new sensation
Falling down
