Force your culture on me, and force me into your schools. Force me into your church, and make me a government tool. This is nothing new for you. You do this every time. You find a new ethnic group, and commit the same old crime. You leave us with: Broken cultures, broken beliefs, broken treaties and broken dreams, broken homes, broken schools, we'll break your system and break your rules! So now you finally see that we are all the same. We are all human, but your actions are not humane. So now you realize that we must unite. No matter what your race, we are all the same! We'll fix these: Broken cultures, broken beliefs, broken treaties and broken dreams, broken homes, broken schools, we'll break your system and break your rules! We'll break your! (your system!) We'll break your fucking rules.
