Broke down, I found
Even when you think you need a rest
You will live without another round
I know it's too bad, so sad
All the things that we could've been and could've had

Hey girl, what sound?
A million miles of water
That are flowing deep beneath this ground
Now I've found you right here
A million miles of water

You were my muse
Just because you happen to have a bomb
Doesn't mean you light the fuse
I know that my girl, big lie
Four years in and you never even said goodbye

Hey girl, what sound?
A million miles of water
That are flowing deep beneath this ground
Now I've found you right here
A million miles of water dear

Hey girl, what sound?
I want you to remember
That sometimes we have to go without
Now I've found it right here
I want you to remember dear

We were two of a funny kind, so damn blind
But now we got to never mind
I know that this is the end
We tried so hard but now I got to lose a friend

Hey girl, what sound?
A million miles of water
That are flowing deep beneath this ground
Now I've found you right here
A million miles of water dear

Hey girl, what sound?

I want you to remember
That sometimes we have to go without
Now I've found you right here
I want you to remember that

Hey girl, what sound?
A million miles of water
That are flowing deep beneath this ground
Now I've found you right here
Slip my love [incomprehensible]

Hey girl, what sound?
I want you to remember
That sometimes we have to go without
Now I've found out how to
I want you to remember that
