No Life Assurance

We're staring in the rear-view mirror

While moving towards the peak the evolution To end this inexhaustible space,

this labyrinth of endless steps,

'cause we prefer the monoculture Supervised in lanes

Surrounded by laws

We bet our bottom schilling to get back what once has been so natural

While moving towards the peak the evolution

Improve your progress, back to the roots

We're reaching a higher level of uncertainty

Supervised in lanes

Surrounded by laws

We bet our bottom schilling to get back what once has
been so natural

Motion is the essence

All places become equal:

A measure of peace? No, it's just a salutary emptiness within
