i know that you can not change my thoughts but you won't realize maybe there's a new hope next morning and i feel you can't resist why aren't you satisfied that you've got a common faith i see them fight, them kill, despise or even sacrifice their hope is good - constitution is a fault dodgesness has caused a lot of cruel wars and i can't understand your faith there are a lot of religions in the world today they are pretty much different but they have one bad thing in common: they don't accept each other it's hard to believe a promise if there's no difference to politics according to intentional deceptions it seems to be all wrong...
