two nations between whom there's no sympathy and friendship who are as ignorant of each others thought and feelings they built borders around their own imaginations to separate their private life from neighborhood and other cultures living side by side ignorance will be called pride there's no freedom without fight is this living side by side ? try to become encapsulated - next step you're cursed and hated is this our way of respect or a lack of communication ? two states with pure aggression two boys with no confession i don't know, don't know, don't know is there any difference ?
