Have you thought about your life today and where it is going

You're living in loneliness and running away from the truth

Will you ever come out of your shell and show your vigor

Or will you be living in solitude in your own world of damn lies

You believe the lies you live the lies

It burns inside like a hollowpoint expanding inside of you

You wait and wait for more damn lies

I thought I knew who you were

But you just put up a front

A front of deception and deceit

You have got to change

Or just rearrange your inner self

No one cares for you

How long can you last living alone and confused

The time has come to stop and look at yourself

What gives you the right to decide what kind of person

I am

When you believe your own fucking lies

You're so fucking vain

You think you know so much

Recycled rumors which turn you to hate

You can't see through the bullshit

[Solo: Ian]

[Solo: Wu]

Anger rips you open like a shotgun slug blowing out your back

Pain feelings are numb you start to realize that you were wrong

Lying a wake in your bed

Never sleeping after understanding the real truth

(Deceive, inveigle, obfuscate)
