Wandering for far too long
My body's giving up
Feeling every step I take
And every blade and grain
Doing what I can and
What I'm told, so I'm told
Wear the reasons on my shoulders
Praying for daylight

And I swear I'll make it through
What I earn I give to you

Although some may lose their heads
I know I can prevail
Sitting in dark corners alone
Praying for daylight

And I swear I'll make it through
What I earn I give to you
Without question
No question
I swear

Taste of metal, smell of oil
I'm running for my life
Wandering for far too long
And praying for daylight

And I swear I'll make it through
What I earn I give to you
And I swear I'll make it through
What I've earned I give to you
