The meaning isn't lost on me
There just doesn't seem to be anything but a memory
That never really meant a thing
Do you find it hard to avoid these things?
Does the truth hurt if you refuse to believe?

I think I need that miracle
Or did you already spend them all
It never was supposed to last this long
Well so it ends

A cryptic message well received
With no excuse or apology
Though it wasn't meant for me
I'm still taken with the words
That were sent like a fist to the eye
Now that I'm knocked down
Crawling on the ground
Punishment all around

I think I need that miracle
Or did you already spend them all
It never was supposed to last this long

It's time to wake up
The burden's on you
You gotta give me something
Well so it ends
