"Sunshine"

In your head everything is moving right along
In your mind there's nothing wrong
And I'm not here to change the way you think
But ignorance has gotta be a slow way to die

Start stripping your soul, removing all your shame
Before the world comes crashing down on you
Stop living a lie, accept that you're to blame
Or never feel the sunshine

In your hands you begin to pull apart the whole
Lay it down, plant the seed
Open up, now you see how it got away
Time to get a handle on your new found self control

Start stripping your soul, removing all your shame
Before the world comes crashing down on you
Stop living a lie, accept that you're to blame
You want to feel the sunshine

You can't complain
You feel the same
You're holding out
You're holding on
But you feel the burn

Start stripping your soul, removing all your shame
Before the world comes crashing down on you
Stop living a lie, accept that you're to blame
You want to feel the sunshine
Feel the sunshine
