In the moon of the fallen leaves (Wovoka)

Appeared one day

He had come from the land of spirits

With a message of prophecy

The flood will come to save you

Next spring when the good times come

From the lake of the pyramids (Wovoka)

Was heard to say

All people must dance

Keep on dancing, keep on dancing

All people must sing

Keep on singing, keep on singing for the good times to come

Gin, Ricky, Ginny Ricky

Gin, Gin, Gin

On the third day a fire lit

The spirit he suspended (Wovoka)

Said "Live Again"

From the cough of the iron horse they saw (Wovoka)

Do the dance with the Ghost Himself

All people must dance

Keep on dancing, keep on dancing

All people must sing

Keep on singing, keep on singing for the good times to come

Gin, Ricky, Ginny Ricky

Gin, Gin, Gin

His power is legend and his teaching's are true (Wovoka)

The red way is seen

The beauty of his wisdom is an Indian song (Wovoka)

The Prophet said

All people must dance
Keep on dancing, keep on dancing
All people must sing
Keep on singing, keep on singing for the good times to come

All people must dance
Keep on dancing, keep on dancing
All people must sing
Keep on singing, keep on singing for the good times to come

All people must dance
Keep on dancing, keep on dancing
All people must sing
Keep on singing, keep on singing for the good times to come
