Carmalina, she works for jesus sweeps the church, ole st. marie she tried to leave once juarez for phoenix
never got nowhere
dressed in flowers
she spends her hours
one by one
drying up in the sun
but come the twilight
you can bet that she might put on her makeup
to cover up one more time
chorus:
carmalina, a mexican prize won by many
in the bars late at night
strange behavior
for our savior
born a stranger to affection her adolescence fell by the way like a child actor
she grew up too quickly moving so swiftly
chorus
alt. verse:
when the rains came
no one was to blame
they wrote it off
as they rolled her way
my fallen angel
i know you meant well
my fallen angel
my fallen angel
carmalina
