she threw away her vile past to find along a better path she went to The Gap to buy a new dress and dyed her hair a jet black color she moved downtown looking for work met Leroy, a real bad lot she'd given up school when she was fourteen and took a dirty job on a corner of St-Catherine whenever life is strange

it's always time to change then she realized she can look at herself again she sees mom and dad no more she always thinks of them one day, she hopes, her parents may forgive 'cause she slammed the door back in '94
whenever life is strange
