MoonÂ... mirror of the human desires
Inspired of the majestic wins
Under yours cold view you contemplated Immemorials battles of the timeÂ's begin
MoonÂ... eternally following the knight errant (by the cursed lands)
Always searching yours black mysteries
That the ancients lords and warriors carried in themselves.

The fog that came from triumphant night
Bring to my realms the dark dawn
That spread by all horizon until the rocky mountains
By where stretch the battlefields
The damned daylight traverse and burning the welkin Reflecting in my face the ultimate trail of conquered battle
But that light donÂ't consume the ice where live my being
And donÂ't seduce my soul steeped by glorious warlike blood.

In the ceremonial circle all look the beauty of burning scoria
The invaders of our land supplicate by your dead lord
The night is contemplated with a beauty visionÂ... heat incandescentÂ...
Of symbol raised of ecclesiastic weakness
Falling under ours looks and our power!
The offering gave to the lord of fire and shadows
Is the prove of our loyalty in this moment
To fallen angel that teach us to search the true
We march under the moonfog realmÂ's!
