[Lyric by Deathscythe, Music by Deathscythe]

The wisdom's flame reveal The shadow of a being wrapped in the silence of the soul
In a far-away and stare in the metamorphosis
That precede the matter and the moral.
Where the spiritual cold consume the remembrance of the Past and the nightfall winds blows strong
The time transcend the pain and the madness Lifting his existential cause to reason's center.
From the mountain where no-other man returns of uncertainty's dip
Behold appear from among mist the Serpent that reveal in a deep to look
A immense infernal valley to ecclesiastic's eyes.
While the quest for something "beautiful" the torment comfort
And burn the anguish... the times embed in despair
On sick and ancient soul with the emptiness heritage
And the illusion of a objective long time forgotten.
And the serpent disappear in the somber projection of a being Without hopes or pretensions
There is nothing in your around just the absolute silence
Without doubts, without emotions... just he.
