When the night is done
And when we greet the sun
You know there's no one
I'd rather see
Than you by me

I'd wear my poet suit
If it helped me steady you
Oh when you need me to
I'd soothe your mind

And with a lover's view
I'd write a song or two
That I would sing to you
A million times
If you asked me to

So come and rest your thoughts with me
Underneath the cypress tree
We can watch the moon and stars shine at their finest
Let the rest say what they may
I'm a mere heartbeat away
And you will always be the object of my kindness

You know it's not like me
To speak so forwardly
Straight to your core, I see
Straight to my mark

But you know exactly why
My spirit soars at night
You hear your voice inside
Inside my heart
Inside my heart

Chorus
