i dreamed what what you were offering imagine lying next to me you should, and your reputation talks i will write our story in my mind write about our dreams and triumphs this might be my "innocence lost" i can taste the ocean on your skin that is where it all began i dreamed that we were elephants out of sight, clouds of dust and woke up thinking we were free oh oh oh

we all go back to where we belong
this really what you want
