Looking forward to next year when everything is different

Or at least I can only hope Searching for the answers that I need,
Like how can I let things slide

Where can I place the blame?
I need to fall back on something
A reason why I feel this way

Each moment passing is another leaving me so lost,
and unsatisfied

Today's not important, but when tomorrow becomes today
And I still feel the same

Hopefully the days not far away What I've been waiting for, will arrive and be here to stay
All the endless nights that had no end in sight not long ago
Have turned to morning just overnight

Where can I place the blame?
I need to fall back on something
A reason why I feel this way

Each moment passing is another leaving me so lost,
and unsatisfied

Today's not important, but when tomorrow becomes
today
And I still feel the same

It seemed almost real
And more than ever now
Not sure how much longer I can sit and wait Wait just can't wait

Each moment passing is another leaving me so lost,
and unsatisfied

Today's not important, but when tomorrow becomes
today

And I still feel the same
