After all these years, there's no way of getting through
And until there's a change

End all of the memories captured in photographs
And all of the words that I took time to hear you say
It's not time to, to question me
Just listen for things that you failed to see

I know that there's no way of getting through
So ask yourself (ask yourself)
How do you medicate someone who insists that nothing is wrong
Nothing's wrong (nothing's wrong)

Quickly destroy all of the evidence that points Right to the source of all the problems we know (we know)
It's not time to, to question me
Just listen for anything you've failed so far to see

I know that there's no way of getting through
So ask yourself (ask yourself)
How do you medicate someone who insists that
nothing is wrong

...with them, is wrong with them

Nothing's wrong with them, is wrong with them

There's no getting through

I know that there's no way of getting through
So ask yourself (ask yourself)
How do you medicate someone who insists that
nothing is wrong
Nothing's wrong (nothing's wrong)
