(Written by Rob Pettigrew)

When your walking down the street the world is at your feet

And the people that you meet at the poor man on the street and you think

Chorus

Oooh what's goin on in this world today?

Peoples' minds have left, gone astray

All this death and destruction wont go away

So what's goin on in this world today?

So you carry on down this lonely road

The road you know so well

But the people down there just sit and stare

And the passers by don't care

(Chorus)

There are wars, there's are conflicts all across the world

The things that cause commotion

Blood shed all day, blood shed all night

And you ask, why do we fight?

(Chorus)

Is there any point to this?

It's gotta come to an end

So if you feel this way then stand and say

The world is not better off this way
