The smell of man that now scents your wings
And what that brings
A change in things
Banished forever from the sacred nest
On your snow-white breast
I feel there's still unrest

I said hey, darlin' one
Your time has come
Hey, darlin' one

Five hundred midnights since have passed
Since I held you fast
You were safe at last

Wax burnt my finger like a clear blue flame
So young and tame
I was to blame

N' I call your name, darlin' one
Your time has come
I said hey, darlin' one
Your time has just begun

I cupped my hands around you
And I swore you would fly
My tears fell through the dirt
As I heaved you through the sky

Hey, darlin' one
Your time has come
Your time has come

Hey, darlin'
Darlin'
Darlin'

Hey, darlin' one, your time has come
