My dreams come in every shape

And when I close my eyes

I can't help what I come to realize

That everything starts making sense

If I have something I'm trying to forget

Regret won't let me let it go

I can't shake it until I awake

Until I awake

Cut loose from these rules

That only hold me back and

Retract what I thought was clear

Now that I can't live this way

You're gone now

And nobody cares

And nobody cares

Year in year out, take that smile

(?)

I stuck around

This is what I need

My dreams come in every shape

And when I close my eyes

I can't help what I come to realize

That everything starts making sense

If I have something I'm trying to forget

Regret won't let me let it go
