wrong and sorry
but i'm still pissed
and i don't want to know if you still think it's all my fault is it still my fault?

yeah it's a shame
it's the shit when there's no one to blame i don't want answers or reasons now it's not important now

please come home
your heart won't break
just for my sake

tearing it down
all this guilt i've been dragging around comfy at last just to be myself same as everyone else

my pride and my love of material things are two steps away from being complete i hope i'm never complete

i'm still the same
please come home
no grudge, no blame and no pain
