"Everything"

I've got my eyes set on the prize before me
Not holding back from the winds that will move me
'Cuz sometimes adversity is the catalyst for change
Just let it push you on to greater things

This is the path that I will run
It's what I need to be
This time it's real and You will see
'Cuz You're everything I need

I've come too far to let this pull me under
This opposition will just make me stronger
Stronger than I have ever been Deeper into the will of Him

You're everything I need
