"Surrender"

I find myself holding on
To the emptiness around me
And I find myself letting go
Of everything that holds meaning

All you had you gave away
To get what you wanted
But what you thought would bring you peace
Has left you empty

When you fall who will catch you
Will your life be shattered pieces of what you dreamed that it would be
Will your god carved of flesh and gold pull you out of this
Of this lie you've sold yourself to

I have tried all my life
To make it through without you
But now I am on my knees
Broken before You

All you need to live again
Is standing before you
Jesus is calling you
But you must surrender

Surrender
