You wake up in the morning
The sound of rain outside
You pull the covers over your head
Another day another fight

You just wanna get away
From the mess that you have made
From the problems that you've caused

I know the answer
He's standing right in front of you
To take you by the hand
He will forgive you
He'll come to live inside of you
If you let Him in your heart

You're sick of all the heartache
You're done with all the fights
It feels like life is worthless
It just fades away with time

You just wanna get away
From the mess that you have made
From the problems that you've caused
You just want a new beginning
To rearrange your life
To have a brand new start

This is not the end of what God has done
Your life is not over, it's only just begun
It could be so much different if you'd listen to me

Cuz' Jesus is the answer
He's standing right in front of you
To take you by the hand
He will forgive you
He'll come to live inside of you
If you let Him in your heart
